ToP™ Module 7 Being a Facilitative Leader

Build personal effectiveness, integrity and authenticity to lead alongside others.

In this course you'll explore the spirit and philosophy of Facilitative Leadership with the opportunity to reflect on your own leadership style through a holistic retreat-style experience. You'll understand the power and potential of facilitative leadership for catalysing leadership in others.

Who is the course for?

People supervising, managing, and leading others. Those leading change and learning.

- Governors & Directors
- Leaders and Managers
- Facilitators and Change Practitioners
- Development workers
- Human resource professionals

Prerequisite

Completion of ToP™ Group Facilitation Methods course is a prerequisite for this course.

What does the course cover?

Explore your own authentic role and style as a facilitative leader and understand the responsibility required for ethically leading and facilitating change.

You'll learn the five characteristics or stances of a facilitative leader. Māori knowledge and perspectives explored in relation to each stance adds richness and depth to your understanding.

Leave with a plan for your ongoing development, and the tools and approaches to operate effectively as a facilitative leader in your day to day life.

What participants have said

"Hugely beneficial to get Māori perspectives and introduce Māori concepts... and to explore your own style and learning how others' leadership styles are/ can be so different."

"Gave me new understanding of how to look at leadership and be a leader."

"Refreshed my awareness of the power of facilitative approaches. Opened up the potential of more authentic ways of being. Recharged my sense of responsibility to the world."
